1 TO: ALL PARTIES AND TO THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

2 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on October 2, 2008 at 1:30 p.m., or as soon thereafter as
3 the matter may be heard, in Courtroom 4, 3rd Floor, located at 1301 Clay Street, Oakland, CA
4 94612, or such other department to which the Court may assign to this matter, all Defendants
5 will and do hereby move the above-entitled Court for an order dismissing the Complaint of 6 Plaintiffs or, in the alternative, for an order compelling arbitration of the claims set forth in the 7 Complaint.

10 This motion is brought pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure, Rule 12(b)(6), based 11 upon Section 301 of the Labor Management Relations Act, and upon such other and further 12 authorities set forth in the attached Memorandum of Points and Authorities filed herewith.

13 Specifically, this motion to dismiss, or, in the alternative, to compel arbitration, seeks 14 relief as follows:
15

16 (1) Plaintiffs' First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth
17 Cause of Action should be dismissed as, among other things, these claims are Plaintiffs have 18 failed to exhaust their grievance remedies under the Teamsters Collective Bargaining
19 Agreement, these Plaintiffs have failed to allege exhaustion of their administrative remedies, and 20 have further failed to state legally cognizable causes of action for sexual harassment, hostile
21 work environment and sexual battery;
22

23 (2) In the alternative, arbitration is mandatory under the Collective Bargaining
24 Agreement and therefore if the Court is not inclined to dismiss this matter, the Court is 25 nevertheless respectfully requested to order the matter to arbitration and to stay and hold the 26 action in abeyance.
27

This motion shall be based upon this Notice of Motion, the Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the Plaintiffs' Complaint and exhibits thereto (attached to the Notice of Removal filed by Defendants) the files and records of this action and such other and further oral and documentary evidence as may be introduced or referred to at the hearing on this matter.

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. INTRODUCTION/FACTS:

Defendant CALIFORNIA WASTE SOLUTIONS, INC., a California corporation, ("CWS") is a recycling company, with locations in Oakland and San Jose. The other Defendants are current or past employees of the company.

Plaintiffs are either current or past employees. Each of the Plaintiffs either was or is a curbside recycling collection truck driver. All the Plaintiffs are members of International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local 70 (the "Teamsters"). At all material times the Teamsters and CWS were parties to an effective and current Collective Bargaining Agreement ("CBA").<sup>1</sup>

1 The Complaint for, inter alia, the deprivation of plaintiffs' civil rights was filed in the 2 State Court of California in and for the County of Alameda. The Defendants filed a Notice of 3 Removal on August 7, 2008. The Plaintiffs' Complaint involves four individuals whom the 4 Complaint alleges are members of "a protected class." See paragraphs 1 through 4 of the 5 Complaint filed July 18, 2008 (hereinafter "Complaint"). A copy of the Complaint is attached to 6 Defendants' Notice of Removal as Exhibit A, filed herein.

8 The Complaint cites 42 U.S.C. §1981 (in addition to California Government Code 9 §12900 et seq.) and states that these statutes prohibit employers from sexually harassing
10 employees, discriminating against employees and retaliating against employees. See paragraph 5
11 of the Complaint.
12

13 The Complaint alleges that the defendants "had little or no respect for state and federal 14 laws regarding discrimination" and attempts to imply that the defendants "intentionally mislead" 15 the plaintiffs as to where the provisions on non-discrimination "could be found and the extent of 16 their non-discrimination policy." See paragraph 31 of the Complaint attached. Paragraph 31 cites
17 Exhibit A of the Complaint as supporting these allegations, which are the "Collective Bargaining
18 Agreement Between Sanitary Truck Drivers and Helpers, Local #350, IBT and California Waste
19 Solutions of San Jose, CA, Drivers/Mechanics, 2007-2013", and "Agreement Between 20 Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local No. 70 and California Waste Solutions." The copy of the 21 agreement with Local #70 states that it was made and entered into in 1994, and reprinted in 22 1998. See Exhibit A of the Complaint, filed herein. Article 20 of the Collective Bargaining 23 Agreement regarding Local #350 cites the Americans with Disabilities Act (along with the 24 California Fair Employment and Housing Act).
25

26 Each Collective Bargaining Agreement contains a grievance and arbitration section.
27 Article 21 in the agreement with Local #350 and Article 14 in the agreement with Local #70
28 each require that grievances be reduced to writing within a specified time. The Complaint fails to

1 allege that the plaintiffs complied with the required grievance procedures, and fails to state that 2 the plaintiffs exhausted their administrative remedies. The Complaint fails to allege that any of 3 the plaintiffs sought arbitration of any of the issues raised in the Complaint. See Exhibit A of the 4 Complaint.

5 The Plaintiffs allege that the Defendants violated the relevant Collective Bargaining
 6 Agreements. See, e.g., Paragraphs 26, 39, 46, 54, 62, 67, 70, 79 and 85 of the Complaint. These 7 paragraphs of Plaintiffs' Complaint are discussed below. Under 28 USC § 1441(c) the 8 Defendants gave notice of removal of this action to federal court. California Practice Guide, 9 Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:604.

10 The Plaintiffs allege that the Defendants violated federal law. See, e.g., Paragraphs 5, 31, 11 32, 33, 67, and 70. Under 28 USC § 1441(b) (federal question) the Defendants gave notice of 12 removal of this action to federal court. Harris v. Birmingham Board of Education (11th Cir.
 13 1987) 817 F2d 1525, 1526, California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, 14 (2008) TRG, 2:841.

15 II. PLAINTIFFS' ACTION MUST BE DISMISSED

16 A. 12(B)(6) STANDARD

17 A Rule 12(b)(6) motion tests the legal sufficiency of the claims stated in the 18 complaint. The Court must decide whether the facts alleged, if true, would entitle the Plaintiffs to 19 some form of legal remedy. Where, as here, the answer is unequivocally "no," the motion must 20 be granted. Conley v. Gibson (1957) 355 US 41, 45-46, 78 S.Ct. 99, 102; De La Cruz v. Tormey
 21 (9th Cir. 1978) 582 F2d 45, 48; see California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before
 22 Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:187. A rule 12(b)(6) dismissal is proper where there is either a "lack of a 23 cognizable legal theory" or "the absence of sufficient facts alleged under a cognizable legal 24 theory." Balisteri v. Pacifica Police Dept. (9th Cir. 1990) 901 F2d 696, 699; see California
 25 Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:187. Unless the court
 26 converts a Rule 12(b)(6) motion into a summary judgment motion, or the defense is apparent
 27 from matters of which a court may take judicial notice, the court cannot consider material outside the complaint (e.g., facts presented in briefs, affidavits or discovery materials). Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir. 2001) 261 F3d 912, 925; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:211. Material properly submitted with the complaint (i.e., exhibits under FRCP 10(c)) may be considered as part of the complaint for purposes of a Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss. Hal Roach Studios, Inc. v. Richard Feiner & Co., Inc. (9th Cir. 1990) 896 F2d 1542, 1555; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:212.
 28

B. FEDERAL LABOR LAW COMPLETELY PREEMPTS THE STATE LAW CLAIMS IN THE COMPLAINT

A federal statute that does not expressly preempt state law may do so impliedly. See California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 1:690. Implied preemption is found where the federal statute regulates a field that Congress intended to be occupied exclusively by the federal government. See Freightliner Corp. v. Myrick (1995) 514 US 280, 287, 115 S.Ct. 1483, 1488. When Congress has legislated so comprehensively in an area that federal law occupies the entire field, leaving no room for state regulation, state law is impliedly preempted. See California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 1:690 and Pacific Gas & Elec. Co. v. State Energy Resources Conservation & Develop. Comm'n (1983) 461 US 190, 204, 103 S.Ct. 1713, 1722. Section 301 of the Labor Management Relations Act (LMRA) provides that “(s)uits for violation of (collective bargaining agreements) ... may be brought in any district court ...” See California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 1:692; 29 U.S.C. §185(a) [parenthesis added]. This has been construed to preempt state law on claims that require interpretation of a collective bargaining agreement. See Lingle v. Norge Div. of Magic Chef (1988) 486 US 399, 403-406, 108 S.Ct. 1877, 1880-1881.

C. THE DOCTRINE OF COMPLETE PREEMPTION REQUIRES DISMISSAL OF ALL STATE LAW CLAIMS

A Rule 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim may be used when, as here, the Plaintiffs have included allegations in the Complaint that, on their face, disclose some absolute defense or bar to recovery: “If the pleadings establish facts compelling a decision one way, that is as good as if depositions or other expensively obtained evidence on summary judgment establishes the identical facts.” Weisbuch v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir.) 119 F3d 788, fn. 1; Quiller v. Barclays American/Credit, Inc. (11th Cir. 1984) 727 F2d 1067, 1069; Hearn v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (D AZ 2003) 279 F.Supp.2d 1096, 1102 (citing text); see California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:193.

The “complete preemption” doctrine is limited primarily, as is the matter here, to state law claims that are displaced by the Labor Management and Relations Act. California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:726.1. Where federal law completely preempts a state law claim, the action may be removed to federal court even if federal law fails to provide plaintiff with remedies available under state law, or a nonjurisdictional defense completely bars the federal claim. See Young v. Anthony’s Fish Grottos, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 830 F2d 993, 999; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:724. Under such circumstances, the district court should dismiss the federal claim (not remand to the state court). See Young v. Anthony’s Fish Grottos, Inc., supra, 830 F2d 993 at 999; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:724.

A common application of “complete preemption” is an action by union employees (persons employed under a collective bargaining agreement) against their employers based on claims arising out of their employment relationship. California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:7247 [emphasis added]. The Labor Management Relations Act §301(a) states: “Suits for violation of (collective bargaining contracts) ... may be brought in any district court having jurisdiction of the parties without regard to the amount in controversy or without regard to the citizenship of the parties.” 29 USC §185(a); California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:728. The statute has been interpreted as authorizing federal courts to fashion a body of federal common law for enforcement of collective bargaining agreements. Textile Workers Union v. Lincoln Mills (1957)

353 US 448, 455-456, 77 S.Ct. 912, 917-918; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:729.

The body of federal common law authorized under LMRA §301 completely preempts state law claims based on a collective bargaining agreement: “Any such suit is purely a creature of federal law, notwithstanding the fact that state law would provide a cause of action in the absence of §301.” Franchise Tax Board v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 23, 103 S.Ct. 2841, 2854; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:730. Complete preemption of state law is necessary because it ensures uniform interpretation of labor agreements (Local 174, Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen & Helpers of America v. Lucas Flour Co. (1962) 369 US 95, 103-104) and because preemption assures that arbitration provisions of collective bargaining agreements will be given the same effect in federal and state courts; i.e., so that labor law grievances “remain firmly in the arbitral realm.” Lingle v. Norge Div. of Magic Chef (1988) 486 US 399, 411, 108 S.Ct. 1877, 1884; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:731.

The key to determining the scope of LMRA preemption is whether resolution of the state law claim requires the court to construe a provision of the collective bargaining agreement. Lingle v. Norge Div. of Magic Chef (1988) 486 US 399, 412, 108 S.Ct. 1877, 1885. The Plaintiffs’ claim is thus the touchstone for this analysis. “The need to interpret the [collective bargaining agreement] must inhere in the nature of the plaintiff’s claim.” Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F3d 683, 691 (en banc); Garley v. Sandia Corp. (10th Cir. 2001) 236 F3d 1200, 1208; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:736.

Plaintiffs’ First Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 39 of the Complaint states that “Plaintiff Dickerson then complained to Defendants CWS, Beal [sic] and Duong and human resources manager Liu [sic] about Ramirez’s offensive sexual conduct and racial comments and asked them to put a stop to it.” See Complaint, paragraph 39. Plaintiffs’ First Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. Resolution of Plaintiff Dickerson's claim in the First Cause of Action necessarily depends upon the terms of the Collective Bargaining Agreement's grievance process because Plaintiff is alleging that the Defendants' conduct in "embarrassing, degrading, insulting and sexually harassing him was done in the course and scope of CWS business and while each Defendant was on duty and was only possible due to Defendants [sic] capacity as employer, manager and supervisor." See Paragraph 41 of the Complaint. Plaintiff Dickerson further alleges that "Defendant CWS's failure to correct or prevent the harassment", presumably under the terms of the relevant and applicable grievance process, that therefore "...CWS acted to condone and ratify the conduct of each of the Defendants." See Paragraph 42 of the Complaint. Here, Plaintiff Dickerson is not alleging illegal conduct on the part of Defendants CWS, Beale and Duong and human resources manager Liu, but rather that they failed to act under the grievance process as outlined by the relevant Collective Bargaining Agreement which Plaintiffs attached to their Complaint as Exhibit A. See Exhibit A of Complaint. As pled, the First Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim, which is "inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract." See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs' First Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs' First Cause of Action should be dismissed.

Plaintiffs' Second Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 46 of the Complaint alleges that Plaintiffs "were all employed under a contract that was partly oral, partly written and partially implied." See Paragraph 46 of the Complaint. Plaintiffs' Second Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. In Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc. the court held that the state law breach of contract claims are preempted if the subject matter of the contract is covered by the relevant collective bargaining agreement or the employee relies on a collective bargaining agreement in asserting the contract claim. See Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 830 F.2d 993, 997-998, California Practice Guide,

1 Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:740. Paragraph 46 of the Complaint
 2 alleges “The terms of the contract relied upon by all Plaintiffs included but were not limited to a
 3 collective bargaining agreement ...” As pled, the Second Cause of Action puts forth a state law
 4 claim which is “inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.”
 5 See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v.
 6 Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs’
 7 Second Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and 8 because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs’ Second Cause of Action
 9 should be dismissed.

10 Plaintiffs’ Third Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 54 of the Complaint
 11 alleges “The relationship between Plaintiffs and Defendant CWS was fundamentally contractual.
 12 Inherent in that contractual relationship is a covenant of good faith and fair dealing.” Plaintiffs’
 13 Third Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. In Young 14 v. Anthony’s Fish Grottos, Inc. the court held that the state law breach of contract claims are 15 preempted if the subject matter of the contract is covered by the relevant collective bargaining
 16 agreement or the employee relies on a collective bargaining agreement in asserting the contract
 17 claim. See Young v. Anthony’s Fish Grottos, Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 830 F.2d 993, 997-998,
 18 California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:740. As pled, 19 the Third Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim which is “inextricably intertwined with 20 consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471
 21 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001)
 22 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs’ Third Cause of Action requires interpretation of the 23 Collective Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal 24 law, Plaintiffs’ Third Cause of Action should be dismissed.

25 Plaintiffs’ Fourth Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 62 of the Complaint
 26 states that “The intentional act of wrongfully terminating and constructively terminating Reed
 27 and Hall by defendants and the effect on all plaintiffs was foreseeable by defendants. Plaintiffs 28

1 have lost wages and benefits ...” The Complaint alleges in Paragraph 26 that Plaintiff Reed was 2 “Without any verbal or written warning regarding his job performance, in violation of his
 3 employment agreement with CWS Reed was wrongfully terminated thirteen days prior to the end
 4 of his probationary period (emphasis added).” Plaintiffs’ Fourth Cause of Action requires
 5 interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. Claims by probationary employees may 6 require interpretation of the applicable collective bargaining agreement because a union can
 7 waive the job security rights of probationary employees in order to obtain job security for more
 8 senior employees. Hollis v. Kaiser Found. Hosps. (9th Cir. 1984) 727 F2d 823, 825, California
 9 Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:741. As pled, the Fourth
 10 Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim which is “inextricably intertwined with 11 consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471
 12 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001)
 13 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Furthermore, there is no public policy exception. A state’s public policy, 14 no matter how strongly reflected in its statutes or case law, is no barrier to preemption under 15 LMRA §301. Newberry v. Pacific Racing Ass’n (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F2d 1142, 1147-1150.
 16 Because Plaintiffs’ Fourth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining
 17 Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs’ Fourth 18 Cause of Action should be dismissed.

19 Plaintiffs’ Fifth Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 67 of the Complaint
 20 alleges that “As a direct and proximate result of defendants’ constructive termination of plaintiff
 21 Hall in violation of federal and state laws and public policy plaintiff lost and will continue to 22 lose income and benefits (emphasis added).” Plaintiffs’ Fifth Cause of Action requires
 23 interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. The allegation of constructive 24 termination necessarily will, at the very least, involve consideration and possible interpretation of 25 the applicable collective bargaining agreement, as opposed to “merely looking to” the collective 26 bargaining agreement. Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683
 27 (en banc). As pled, the Fifth Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim that is “inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs’ Fifth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs’ Fifth Cause of Action should be dismissed.

Plaintiffs’ Sixth Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 70 of the Complaint alleges that “Defendants CWS, Jimmy Doung and Does 1-50 retaliated against Plaintiff Reed in violation of federal and state law, public policy and CWS’s contract with him by engaging in retaliatory conduct and continuing that conduct along with employees in CWS [sic] human resources department until he was terminated without cause and in violation of federal and state laws and with agreements Plaintiff had with defendant CWS (emphasis added).” The Complaint alleges in Paragraph 26 that Plaintiff Reed was “Without any verbal or written warning regarding his job performance, in violation of his employment agreement with CWS Reed was wrongfully terminated thirteen days prior to the end of his probationary period (emphasis added).” Plaintiffs’ Sixth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. Claims by probationary employees may require interpretation of the applicable collective bargaining agreement because a union can waive the job security rights of probationary employees in order to obtain job security for more senior employees. Hollis v. Kaiser Found. Hosps. (9th Cir. 1984) 727 F.2d 823, 825, California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:741. As pled, the Sixth Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim that is “inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs’ Sixth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs’ Sixth Cause of Action should be dismissed.

Plaintiffs’ Seventh Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 72 of the Complaint alleges that “CWS’s failure to correct the conduct of Ramirez, Duong and Liu [sic] as alleged in the first, second, third, fifth and sixth causes of action of this complaint was deliberate and willful and done in reckless disregard of causing Plaintiffs emotional distress.” Plaintiffs’ Seventh Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. Claims of emotional distress may require interpretation of the applicable collective bargaining agreement because such claims are incidental to the alleged wrongful discharge; whether or not the alleged discharge is “wrongful” depends upon the terms of the applicable collective bargaining agreement provide grounds for discharge. See Newberry v. Pacific Racing Ass’n (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1142, 1147, California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:745. As pled, the Seventh Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim that is “inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs’ Seventh Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiffs’ Seventh Cause of Action should be dismissed.

Plaintiffs’ Eighth Cause of Action should be dismissed: Paragraph 79 of the Complaint alleges that “Defendant Grogan falsified events and accused Brown of a crime in an effort to terminate him or force him to resign and made knowingly false statements to third parties regarding the personnel file of Brown.” Plaintiffs’ Eighth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement. State law defamation claims based on an employer’s statements may require interpretation of the applicable collective bargaining agreement because such statements and communications may have been made in relation to the grievance proceedings or in communications required by the collective bargaining agreement. See, e.g., Tellez v. Pacific Gas & Elec. Co., Inc. (9th Cir. 1987) 817 F.2d 536, 538. As pled, the Eighth Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim that is “inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683

1 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs' Eighth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective
2 Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law,
3 Plaintiffs' Eighth Cause of Action should be dismissed.

4 Plaintiffs' Tenth Cause of Action should be dismissed: The Tenth Cause of Action
5 alleges retaliation on the part of all defendants as to all plaintiffs and Paragraph 85 of the 6 Complaint alleges that "Defendants" [sic] responded by criticism, demotion, unfavorable 7 reassignment and termination, both actual and constructive, of plaintiffs, all of which is 8 unlawful." Paragraph 85 states that as a proximate result of the Defendants' conduct that 9 "Plaintiffs continue to suffer emotional distress, humiliation, mental and physical injury in an 10 amount according to proof." Plaintiffs' Tenth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the 11 Collective Bargaining Agreement. Claims of emotional distress may require interpretation of the 12 applicable collective bargaining agreement because such claims are incidental to the alleged 13 wrongful discharge; whether or not the alleged discharge is "wrongful" depends upon the terms 14 of the applicable collective bargaining agreement provide grounds for discharge. See Newberry
15 v. Pacific Racing Ass'n (9th Cir. 1988) 854 F.2d 1142, 1147, California Practice Guide, Federal 16 Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:745. The Complaint alleges in Paragraph 26 that 17 Plaintiff Reed was "Without any verbal or written warning regarding his job performance, in 18 violation of his employment agreement with CWS Reed was wrongfully terminated thirteen days
19 prior to the end of his probationary period (emphasis added)." Claims by probationary employees 20 may require interpretation of the applicable collective bargaining agreement because a union can
21 waive the job security rights of probationary employees in order to obtain job security for more
22 senior employees. Hollis v. Kaiser Found. Hosps. (9th Cir. 1984) 727 F.2d 823, 825, California
23 Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:741. As pled, the Tenth
24 Cause of Action puts forth a state law claim that is "inextricably intertwined with consideration
25 of the terms of the labor contract." See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213,
26 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683
27 (en banc). Because Plaintiffs' Tenth Cause of Action requires interpretation of the Collective 28

1 Bargaining Agreement and because it is therefore completely preempted by federal law,
 2 Plaintiffs' Tenth Cause of Action should be dismissed.

3 D. PLAINTIFFS HAVE FAILED TO ALLEGE AND CANNOT ALLEGE
 4 THAT THEY EXHAUSTED ALL THEIR REMEDIES UNDER THE CBA

5 Unless the court converts a Rule 12(b)(6) motion into a summary judgment motion, or 6 the defense is apparent from matters of which a court may take judicial notice, the court cannot 7 consider material outside the complaint (e.g., facts presented in briefs, affidavits or discovery
 8 materials). Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir. 2001) 261 F3d 912, 925;
 9 California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:211. Here, the 10 Plaintiffs have failed to allege in their Complaint that they have exhausted all their remedies
 11 under the collective bargaining agreement, which is attached to Plaintiffs' Complaint as Exhibit 12 A.

13 In Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc., supra, union employees sued their employer in 14 state court for wrongful discharge. The case was properly removed to federal court because the 15 state law claims were completely preempted by the claim provided under federal labor law.
 16 Labor Management Relations Act §301; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure
 17 Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:725. The federal claim was, however, barred by the employee's 18 failure to exhaust the grievance procedure under the collective bargaining agreement (or to assert 19 the claim within the statute of limitations). Accordingly, summary judgment in favor of the 20 employer was proper. See Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc., supra, 830 F2d 993 at 999;
 21 California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:725.

22 Dismissal, not remand, is appropriate where, after removal based on complete
 23 preemption, a claim within the exclusive jurisdiction of federal court fails. See Dielsi v. Falk
 24 (CD CA 1996) 916 F.Supp.985, 993-994; Peters v. Union Pac. R. Co. (8th Cir. 1996) 80 F.3d
 25 257, 262—claim preempted but dismissed for failure to exhaust remedies; California Practice
 26 Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:726.14a.

Here, Plaintiffs' Complaint never alleges that any of the Plaintiffs participated in the grievance process outlined in the pertinent collective bargaining agreement. Paragraphs 1–33 of the Complaint each fail to allege that any of the Plaintiffs exhausted their remedies under the grievance and/or arbitration articles of the collective bargaining agreement. Paragraph 30 of the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff “Brown previously filed a claim against CWS and prevailed at arbitration.” However, the Complaint filed by Plaintiffs is silent regarding any grievance or arbitration relating to the issues, allegations and/or to the causes of action contained in the Complaint.

Even statutory discrimination claims must be submitted to arbitration where the collective bargaining agreement contains an arbitration clause that “clearly and unmistakably” covers all federal causes of action arising out of employment. Wright v. Universal Maritime Service Corp. (1998) 525 US 70, 80, 119 S.Ct. 391, 396; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:356. A collective bargaining agreement that expressly requires arbitration of the union members' statutory discrimination claims waives their right to sue individually on such claims. Carson v. Giant Food, Inc. (4th Cir. 1999) 175 F3d 325, 331-332; Bratten v. SSI Services, Inc. (6th Cir. 1999) 185 F3d 625, 631; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:357.

E. IN THE ALTERNATIVE, PLAINTIFFS' CLAIM IS SUBJECT TO MANDATORY ARBITRATION UNDER THE CBA

Similarly, the Plaintiffs each fail to allege that any of them submitted any of their grievances to arbitration as required under the relevant collective bargaining agreement. Paragraph 30 of the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff “Brown previously filed a claim against CWS and prevailed at arbitration.” Complete preemption of state law is necessary because it ensures uniform interpretation of labor agreements (Local 174, Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen & Helpers of America v. Lucas Flour Co. (1962) 369 US 95, 103-104) and because preemption assures that arbitration provisions of collective bargaining agreements will be given the same effect in federal and state courts; i.e., so that labor law grievances “remain

1 firmly in the arbitral realm.” Lingle v. Norge Div. of Magic Chef (1988) 486 US 399, 411, 108
2 S.Ct. 1877, 1884; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG,
3 2:731. At least one of the Plaintiffs, Plaintiff Brown, had successfully resolved a grievance prior
4 to the filing of this Complaint. However, the Plaintiffs fail to allege that they have exhausted
5 their remedies under the collective bargaining agreement prior to filing the Complaint, and also 6 fail to provide any justification for failing to comply with the requirements of the collective 7 bargaining agreement regarding grievances.

8 Even statutory discrimination claims must be submitted to arbitration where the 9 collective bargaining agreement contains an arbitration clause that “clearly and unmistakably”
10 covers all federal causes of action arising out of employment. Wright v. Universal Maritime 11 Service Corp. (1998) 525 US 70, 80, 119 S.Ct. 391, 396; California Practice Guide, Employment
12 Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:356. A collective bargaining agreement that expressly requires 13 arbitration of the union members’ statutory discrimination claims waives their right to sue 14 individually on such claims. Carson v. Giant Food, Inc. (4th Cir. 1999) 175 F3d 325, 331-332;
15 Bratten v. SSI Services, Inc. (6th Cir. 1999) 185 F3d 625, 631; California Practice Guide, 16 Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:357.

17 Article 14, Grievance Proceedure, of the “Agreement between Brotherhood of Teamsters,
18 Local No. 70 and California Waste Solutions” states that “[t]he grievance procedure is intended 19 to be the primary forum for resolution of any grievance, money claim or dispute arguably
20 covered by the collective bargaining agreement, and the exclusive forum to the fullest extent
21 permitted by law.” See Exhibit A of the Complaint. Even statutory discrimination claims must be 22 submitted to arbitration where the collective bargaining agreement contains an arbitration clause
23 that “clearly and unmistakably” covers all federal causes of action arising out of employment.

F. TO THE EXTENT THAT THEIR EMPLOYMENT REMEDIES ARE EXCLUSIVE UNDER THE CBA, PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS MUST BE DISMISSED

Here, the Plaintiffs have failed to allege in their Complaint that they have exhausted all their remedies under the collective bargaining agreement, which is attached to Plaintiffs' Complaint as Exhibit A.

In Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc., supra, union employees sued their employer in state court for wrongful discharge. The case was properly removed to federal court because the state law claims were completely preempted by the claim provided under federal labor law. Labor Management Relations Act §301; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:725. The federal claim was, however, barred by the employee's failure to exhaust the grievance procedure under the collective bargaining agreement (or to assert the claim within the statute of limitations). Accordingly, summary judgment in favor of the employer was proper. See Young v. Anthony's Fish Grottos, Inc., supra, 830 F.2d 993 at 999; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:725.

Dismissal, not remand, is appropriate where, after removal based on complete preemption, a claim within the exclusive jurisdiction of federal court fails. See Dielsi v. Falk (CD CA 1996) 916 F.Supp.985, 993-994; Peters v. Union Pac. R. Co. (8th Cir. 1996) 80 F.3d 257, 262—claim preempted but dismissed for failure to exhaust remedies; California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:726.14a.

Here, Plaintiffs' Complaint never alleges that any of the Plaintiffs participated in the grievance process outlined in the pertinent collective bargaining agreement. Paragraphs 1–33 each fail to allege that any of the Plaintiffs exhausted their remedies under the grievance and/or arbitration articles of the collective bargaining agreement. Paragraph 30 of the Complaint alleges that Plaintiff “Brown previously filed a claim against CWS and prevailed at arbitration.” However, the Complaint filed by Plaintiffs is silent regarding any grievance or arbitration relating to the issues, allegations and/or to the causes of action contained in the Complaint. Even statutory discrimination claims must be submitted to arbitration where the collective bargaining agreement contains an arbitration clause that “clearly and unmistakably” covers all federal causes of action arising out of employment. Wright v. Universal Maritime Service Corp. (1998) 525 US 70, 80, 119 S.Ct. 391, 396; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:356. A collective bargaining agreement that expressly requires arbitration of the union members’ statutory discrimination claims waives their right to sue individually on such claims. Carson v. Giant Food, Inc. (4th Cir. 1999) 175 F3d 325, 331-332; Bratten v. SSI Services, Inc. (6th Cir. 1999) 185 F3d 625, 631; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:357.

Article 14, Grievance Proceedure, of the “Agreement between Brotherhood of Teamsters, Local No. 70 and California Waste Solutions” states that “[t]he grievance procedure is intended to be the primary forum for resolution of any grievance, money claim or dispute arguably covered by the collective bargaining agreement, and the exclusive forum to the fullest extent permitted by law.” See Exhibit A of the Complaint. Even statutory discrimination claims must be submitted to arbitration where the collective bargaining agreement contains an arbitration clause that “clearly and unmistakably” covers all federal causes of action arising out of employment. Wright v. Universal Maritime Service Corp. (1998) 525 US 70, 80, 119 S.Ct. 391, 396; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:356.

G. PLAINTIFF DICKERSON’S CLAIMS FOR HOSTILE WORK ENVIRONMENT AND SEXUAL BATTERY DO NOT RISE TO THE LEVEL OF ACTIONABLE CLAIMS; HORSEPLAY DOES NOT EQUAL “HARRASSMENT.”

Genuine but innocuous interactions in the workplace are not actionable. Simple “teasing” and offhand comments do not amount to discriminatory changes in the terms and conditions of employment. Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524 US 775, 787, 118 S.Ct. 2275, 2283; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 10:162. “[T]he ordinary tribulations of the workplace, such as the sporadic use of abusive language, gender-related jokes, and occasional teasing” is not actionable harassment. Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524 US 775, 788, 118 S.Ct. 2275, 2284; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007)

1 TRG, 10:163 “Isolated instances (unless extremely serious) will not amount to a discriminatory
 2 change in the terms and conditions of employment.” Faragher v. City of Boca Raton (1998) 524
 3 US 775, 788, 118 S.Ct. 2275, 2283; California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007)
 4 TRG, 10:165.

5 The nature of the misconduct (e.g. whether mere comments or “sexual horseplay” or a 6 sexual assault) is clearly relevant to whether a hostile environment exists. Candelore v. Clark
 7 County Sanitation Dist. (9th Cir. 1992) 975 F2d 588, 590—isolated instances of “sexual 8 horseplay” over a period of years not sufficiently egregious to render work environment hostile; 9 California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 10:174. In Brooks v. City of San 10 Mateo, (9th Cir. 2000) 229 F3d 917, the district court held that a single instance of fondling, 11 though “highly reprehensible” and “unsavory” did not rise to the level of severity and 12 pervasiveness required to constitute a hostile work environment under federal law. The court of 13 appeal, in a decision where employers gained protection from single-episode harassment claims, 14 affirmed the district court’s grant of summary judgment for the defendant. Brooks v. City of San 15 Mateo, supra, 229 F3d at p. 923. In Linville v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., (8th Cir. 2003) 335 F3d
 16 822, the lower court granted summary judgment against a male plaintiff who sued for same-sex
 17 harassment after a coworker, in an act of horseplay, hit the plaintiff in the crotch several times.
 18 On appeal the judgment was upheld because the plaintiff failed to present evidence that the 19 coworker’s actions were based on sex or gender. Linville v. Sears, Roebuck & Co., supra, 335
 20 F3d at p. 826.

21 Here, in Paragraphs 18 and 19 of their Complaint, the Plaintiffs allege that, on December
 22 6, 2007, Defendant Ramirez “grabbed [Plaintiff Dickerson] inappropriately on his backside” and 23 that “[l]ater that same day, while Dickerson was preparing to go home, Defendant Ramirez, in 24 the presence of others including employees of CWS, again engaged in inappropriate touching by 25 jumping on the back of Plaintiff Dickerson’s motorcycle, while Dickerson was about to pull off
 26 and attempted to grab and touch Dickerson between his legs.” These allegations of horseplay, 27 taking place on the same day, do not rise to the level of severity and pervasiveness to be

1 actionable, nor can they, under the relevant case law, be construed to constitute a hostile work
 2 environment. Therefore, the First, Second, Fourth, Seventh and Tenth Causes of Action must be 3 dismissed.

4 H. PLAINTIFFS DO NOT ALLEGE AND CANNOT ALLEGE THAT THEY
 5 EXHAUSTED ALL THEIR ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES

6 While employees need not exhaust the employer's internal grievance process under Title
 7 VII or the Fair Employment and Housing Act (FEHA), the employee does need to exhaust the 8 administrative remedy under these statutes by obtaining the appropriate right-to-sue letter from 9 the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) or the Department of Fair
 10 Employment and Housing (DFEH). EEOC v. Hacienda Hotel (9th Cir. 1989) 881 F2d 1504, 11 1516 (Title VII action) (overruled on other grounds in Burrell v Star Nursery, Inc., (9th Cir.
 12 1999) 170 F3d 951); Schifando v. City of Los Angeles (2003) 31 C4th 1074, 1080, 6 CR3d 457, 13 459 (FEHA action); California Practice Guide, Employment Litigation, (2007) TRG, 16:371.

14 Here, the Plaintiffs have failed to allege in their Complaint that they have exhausted all 15 their administrative remedies.

16 I. PLAINTIFF REED'S CLAIM MUST BE DISMISSED, AS HE ADMITS IN 17 HIS COMPLAINT THAT HE WAS TERMINATED PURSUANT TO THE 18 TERMS OF HIS PROBATION; HE WAS AN AT-WILL EMPLOYEE

19 The Complaint alleges in Paragraph 26 that Plaintiff Reed was "Without any verbal or 20 written warning regarding his job performance, in violation of his employment agreement with 21 CWS Reed was wrongfully terminated thirteen days prior to the end of his probationary period 22 (emphasis added)." As a new employee Plaintiff Reed was serving a probationary period, and as 23 such, was an at-will employee. Claims by probationary employees may require interpretation of 24 the applicable collective bargaining agreement because a union can waive the job security rights
 25 of probationary employees in order to obtain job security for more senior employees. Hollis v.
 26 Kaiser Found. Hosps. (9th Cir. 1984) 727 F2d 823, 825, California Practice Guide, Federal Civil 27 Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 2:741. As pled, the Tenth Cause of Action puts forth a 28 state law claim that is "inextricably intertwined with consideration of the terms of the labor contract.” See Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck (1985) 471 US 202, 213, 105 S.Ct. 1904, 1912, Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir. 2001) 255 F.3d 683 (en banc). Because Plaintiff Reed’s allegations require interpretation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and because they are therefore completely preempted by federal law, Plaintiff Reed’s allegations should be dismissed.

J. PLAINTIFFS’ DEMAND FOR ATTORNEYS’ FEES MUST BE STRICKEN

A motion to strike may be used to strike the prayer for relief where the damages sought are not recoverable as a matter of law. Prayers for attorney fees in actions where these are not recoverable as a matter of law, are properly the subject of a motion to strike. Wilkerson v. Butler (ED CA 2005) 229 FRD 166, 172 (citing text); California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:390. Here, no attorney’s fees are recoverable because the state law claims for violation of public policy must be dismissed. All other claims upon which a claim for reasonable attorney’s fees and/or costs must, as well, be dismissed, and therefore attorney’s fees and/or costs are not recoverable as a matter of law. Wilkerson v. Butler (ED CA 2005) 229 FRD 166, 172 (citing text); California Practice Guide, Federal Civil Procedure Before Trial, (2008) TRG, 9:390.

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is respectfully requested to issue an order dismissing the plaintiff’s complaint, without leave to amend. In the alternative, if any claims are deemed to be viable, then they are subject to mandatory arbitration and this Court is respectfully requested to order that all remaining claims be ordered to arbitration.

1 The Motion of Defendants pursuant to F.R.C.P., Rule 12(b)(6) to dismiss, or, in the 2 alternative, to compel arbitration, came on regularly for hearing on October 2, 2008 in

7 Good cause appearing therefore, the Court, hereby makes the following findings and 8 order:

9 (1) Plaintiffs' First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth and Tenth
10 Cause of Action are hereby dismissed as, among other things, Plaintiffs have failed to exhaust
11 their grievance remedies under the Teamsters Collective Bargaining Agreement, these Plaintiffs 12 have failed to allege exhaustion of their administrative remedies, and have further failed to state 13 legally cognizable causes of action for sexual harassment, hostile work environment and sexual 14 battery;
15
16 [or]

17 (2) arbitration is mandatory under the Collective Bargaining Agreement and therefore
